

Everything But the Kitchen:

A Comprehensive Engagement With the Regional Food System

September 17-20, 2015

Liberty, NY

Thursday, September 17

- 12:00pm – 2:00pm Arrivals & Lunch
Unpack, settle in, have some food.
- 2:00pm Welcome!
Introduce yourself, get the lowdown on all the logistical info you'll need.
- 2:30pm Edible Hike
Take an easy hike through the woods and meadows and taste the food that's growing all around you.
- 4:30pm Sun, Soil, and Seeds
Spend the afternoon on Channery Hill Farm and learn about seed saving, soil health, and homesteading.
- 6:30pm Dinner
Eat an amazing dinner prepared with food from the on-site and neighboring farms.
- 8:00pm S'Mores & More
Graham cracker, chocolate, and marshmallows on a stick ... what more could you ask for?

GOOD FOOD JOBS

Friday, September 18

- 9:30am Breakfast
Enjoy the freshest eggs, homemade jams, and hot bread.
- 10:30am Waste Not
Learn about the many different ways that food “waste” becomes compost.
- 12:30pm Lunch
- 1:30pm Animal Power, Solar Power, Human Power
Visit Root N’ Roost farm and take your pick of workshops that will cover small-scale solar, honey bees, edible forestry, and more!
- 5:30pm Hammock Hang
Relax, take in some sun, read from a selection of articles and essays provided in the Everything But the Kitchen reader.
- 6:30pm Dinner
- 8:00pm Drink and Can
Enjoy a local brew while learning about food preservation in this canning, fermenting, and pickling workshop.

Saturday, September 19

- 9:30am Breakfast
- 10:30am Water Water Everywhere
Build a rainwater catchment system and learn about grey water, potable water, water filtration, and water management.
- 12:30pm Lunch

GOOD FOOD JOBS

1:30pm

The Future Is Now

Visit the amazing Apple Pond Farm and Renewable Energy Center, meet the animals (horses, chickens, goats), learn about their renewable energy projects (wind, solar, pellet), and see what's growing (a farm to school lunch program)

5:30pm

A New Old Way to Cook

Learn indigenous cooking techniques and help prepare a feast for the ages.

7:00pm

Dinner

9:00pm

Bonfire

Spend the last evening around a big campfire with a special surprise musical guest.

Sunday, September 20

11:00am

Brunch

1:00pm

Farewells